2. How super works

Super is an important long-term way to save for your retirement and is, in part, compulsory. There are tax concessions provided by the Australian Government to help you save more money in your super. However, there are limits to how much you and your employer can contribute under the tax concessions. There are also limits and rules about when you can access your super. When you reach age 60, withdrawals from your super will generally be tax-free. Refer to section 7 of this document and the Additional Information Guide for more information on how super is taxed.

Contributing to your super

Different types of contributions can be made to your super including the super guarantee contributions made by your employer, any voluntary personal contributions you make, and if you are eligible, the Australian Government will also co-contribute to your super.

If you are working, your employer usually must make super guarantee contributions to your super. Currently, this is 9.5% of your 'ordinary time earnings'.

Contributions can also be made through salary sacrifice (by asking your employer to deduct extra money and contribute into super before tax is taken out), by making your own personal contributions (for example if you are self-employed), by contributions made by your spouse on your behalf, or by directing personal voluntary savings into your super.

Choosing your own super

Generally, you can choose which super fund your super guarantee contributions are paid into by your employer. If you do not have a choice or you do not tell your employer which super fund to pay your super guarantee contributions into, they will be directed into a super fund chosen by your employer.

Consolidating your super

You can take Whole Super from job to job and you can consolidate your current super account and any other existing super accounts into Whole Super to help you avoid having multiple super funds and fees. Before doing so, please consider any potential loss of existing insurance or other benefits you may have with your existing super fund.

Accessing your super

As super is designed to help you save for retirement, there are limits and rules about when you can access your super, usually from when you turn 65, reach your preservation age (between 55 and 60, depending on your date of birth) and have permanently retired from the workforce. There are limited circumstances when early access to your super may be available if you meet a "condition of release", for example, compassionate grounds, severe financial hardship, or permanent incapacity for work or through the First Home Super Saver Scheme, if eligible.

Pension

Once you meet certain criteria you can start a pension by opening:

- a Transition to Retirement Pension Account, when you reach your preservation age and remain in employment, or
- a Pension Account, when you retire permanently or reach age 65, or meet another condition of release.

Further details about Pension Accounts can be found in Part 2 of the Additional Information Guide. A minimum amount of $20,000 is required to start a pension, which can be transferred from your Accumulation Account or other sources. The eligibility criteria for each Pension Account can be found in the Additional Information Guide.

You can choose your regular pension payment within the prescribed limits set by the Australian Government. Consult your adviser or go to ato.gov.au/super for more information.

You may make a lump sum withdrawal, however, a lump sum withdrawal made from a Transition to Retirement Pension Account can only be made:

- if your Account has an unrestricted non-preserved component and your lump sum withdrawal does not exceed this amount, or
- if you satisfy a "condition of release" with a "nil" cash restriction, or
- to give effect to a payment split under Family Law.

More information You should read the important information about how super works before making a decision. Go to Part 2 in the Additional Information Guide and refer to ASIC's Moneysmart website at moneysmart.gov.au. Material about how super works may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

- laws affecting your super and pension may change in the future, and
- the level of risk for you will vary depending on a range of factors including your age, your investment timeframes, where other parts of your wealth are invested and your risk tolerance.

6. Fees and costs

Consumer advisory warning:

Did you know?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30-year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees.<sup>1</sup> Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation fee calculator to help you check out different fee options.

Fees and costs table

This document shows the fees and costs that you may be charged for the 'Balanced' Pooled Investment Option. These fees and costs may be deducted directly from your money, from your returns on your investment or from the assets of the Fund as a whole.

You should use this table to compare this superannuation product with other superannuation products. Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice and insurance fees,

7. How super is taxed

This section provides a summary of the significant tax information relating to superannuation. It is based on the laws that apply at the date this PDS is issued and changes in the law or its interpretation may affect the tax consequences of investing in Whole Super. For professional advice tailored to your personal circumstances you should consult a tax adviser.

Super is taxed at three stages, contributions, earnings and withdrawals and the tax is paid directly to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

TFN Information

Warning: While it is not compulsory, don't forget to provide your tax file number (TFN) so you can benefit from the lower tax rates applied to superannuation contributions. Without your TFN, a higher tax rate will also be applied when it's time to access your super and on certain contributions we receive for you. Without your TFN personal contributions cannot be accepted by super funds.

Tax on contributions

Concessional contributions such as superannuation guarantee (SG) contributions and salary sacrifice, up to the concessional contribution cap are generally taxed at the concessional rate.

Non-Concessional contributions such as contributions made from after-tax income, up to the non-concessional contribution cap, are not taxed.

What happens if you exceed the contribution caps?

Warning: There are significant tax implications if you exceed the caps during a financial year. For more information on contributions, contribution caps and applicable taxes, please refer to section 7 of the Additional Information Guide or go to ato.gov.au/super.

Tax on super investment earnings

Generally, investment earnings within your Accumulation and Transition to Retirement Accounts will be taxed at a maximum of 15%. Tax is deducted from investment income before unit prices or earning rates are determined depending on your investments.

Tax on withdrawals

Withdrawal benefits may be taxed if you are aged less than 60. The tax will be deducted from your withdrawal benefit. If you are aged 60 or over, no tax will apply to your withdrawal benefit, unless you are a temporary resident.

Tax on death benefits

Lump sum death benefits paid to dependants for tax purposes are fully tax free.

The tax treatment for lump sum benefits paid to non-dependants for tax purposes is different. No tax is payable in respect of any tax-free component while any taxable component will be taxed at rates between 15% to 30%, plus any applicable levies.

More Information - You should read the important information about how super is taxed before making a decision. Refer to Part 7 of the Additional Information Guide or ato.gov.au/super. The material relating to taxation of your super may change between the time you read this PDS and the day when you acquire the product.

Your insurance cover will not commence until your first contribution or rollover has been received, an insurance premium is paid out of your Accumulation Account, and confirmation of the insurance cover has been provided.

The value of your Group Insurance cover is dependent on the Agreed Benefit amount of the sum insured, and the cost of the insurance cover will depend on your age, your occupation and your gender. When the member reaches their 61st birthday, the total and Permanent Disablement Agreed Benefit reduces by 10% each year until the member reaches the Cover Ceasing age.

You can increase, reduce or cancel your Group Life or Income Protection insurance cover at any time (subject to acceptance by the insurer and any limitations, exclusions and other conditions which may apply) by logging on to Secure Online Portal, selecting Insurance and submitting or printing and completing the appropriate form. If increasing insurance cover, you will be notified by the Fund of the Insurers decision and where approved, acceptance of your insurance cover. Note, if you wish to increase your cover this will be subject to underwriting and acceptance by the Fund's insurer.

Warning:

Cooling off period: If you choose to accept insurance offered to you by Whole super after you have joined, premiums will be deducted from your Account monthly in arrears. You have 28 days from acceptance of your application for insurance cover to opt-out before insurance premiums are deducted from your Whole Super Account. This is known as the cooling off period. After this period no insurance premium refund will be available.

Loss of cover: We cannot continue to provide insurance cover to accounts which have not received a contribution or rollover for sixteen months or longer, unless you make an election to maintain cover notwithstanding inactivity. We'll let you know if you're at risk of losing cover, and what your options are.

Costs of insurance cover

There are costs associated with insurance cover. These costs, (insurance premiums, including any stamp duty applicable are covered in detail in the Insurance Guide), which are deducted from your Account monthly in arrears, are calculated on the amount and type of cover, your age, gender, occupation and assessment by the Insurer. Premiums are due by the end of each month, payable monthly in arrears and deducted from your Account. Please refer to the Whole Super Insurance Guide for further information.

Group Insurance administration costs

9. How to open an account

If you are eligible, you can open your Whole Super Account online via the Secure Online Portal. You should have your tax file number ready to open your Account.

Cooling-off period

If you change your mind after opening an Account, you must write to us to cancel your application within your 14-day cooling-off period. Your cooling-off period starts at the earlier of:

- 5 days after your application is accepted, or
- the date the Fund confirms your membership in writing.

On cancellation, we will refund any contributions you have made to your Account (if you are entitled to access your super) or transfer any contributions you have made to a nominated complying super fund. The refund may be decreased or increased to allow for market movements of your investments during that time. We may also deduct any reasonable transaction and administrative costs, tax or duty incurred.

Note: if you do not nominate a suitable fund within 28 days, your contributions will be transferred to the Fund's Eligible Rollover Fund (ERF). An ERF receives and invests the entitlements of super fund members in certain circumstances. The ERF currently selected by the Trustee is:
